PLANT STRAWBERRIES

AND REDUCE THE H. C. OF L.

From October 15 to May 10. If wanted earlier, all 75c per hundred.

Plow or spade your soil in the fall or early spring. Plant as soon as the frost is out of the ground in the spring. For field culture plant one and one-half to two feet apart in the rows; rows three and one-half to four feet apart. Cultivate and hoe once a week until September 15. Mulch with hay or straw in December. For small patches plant twelve inches by eighteen inches. Keep all runners cut off. Mulch with leaves or lawn clippings. Loosen the soil between the plants with a spading fork or hoe three or four inches deep once a week.

Everbearing Progressive does the best for me, and for a small patch I would plant nothing else. Follow the above directions and if the season is wet you will have berries in abundance from May 20 to November.

If berries are desired in dry weather, mulch heavily very close to the plants. Cultivate and hoe between the rows and well up to the plants under the mulch. If possible water once every ten days by flooding the patch or letting water run or stand between the rows for at least two hours. The next day loosen the soil thoroughly two inches deep. The following day pulverize the soil with a garden rake or light harrow. Do not plant close to large trees or hedges.

PRICES: Senator Dunlap, Dr. Burrel, Warfield, and Aroma, 90c per 100; $7.50 per 1,000. If wanted by mail (first, second and third zones), add 15c per 100 or 50c per 500.

Progressive (Everbearing)—$1.50 per 100; $13.00 per 1,000, postpaid.

Lucretie Dewberries, Early Harvest Blackberries and Cumberland Raspberries—5c each; $2.00 per 100; $12.50 per 1,000.

+ Lux Blackberries—Very large, late, extra good, similar to Mercereau; $2.00 per 100; $13.00 per 1,000.

PEONY LIST

Plant from September 1 to April 1, the earlier the better. Plant in rich well drained soil, spade 18 inches deep, do not put any fertilizer directly over the plants; plant with eyes 2 to 3 inches below the ground. Prices are for strong 2 to 5 eye divisions. This is the most popular size to plant. If planted in September, most of them will bloom in May. Larger clumps for sale at prices in proportion to size of plants wanted. I have sixty named kinds. Also some unnamed kinds in mixed colors at six for $1.00.
